AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The South Carolina Revenue and Fiscal Affairs Office (RFA) was formed under the 2014 Restructuring Act and is governed by three appointed members of the Board of Economic Advisors (BEA). Under S.C. Code of Laws §11-9-1110, the BEA is comprised of one member appointed by the Governor to serve as chairman, one member appointed by the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, one member appointed by the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and the Director of the Department of Revenue who serves ex officio with no voting rights.

RFA is responsible for providing diverse sets of fiscal and statistical analyses, reports, and maps, and managing critical projects that support essential services for the state. Customers of the agency include the Governor, General Assembly, state and local governmental entities, the private sector, and the citizens of the state. The agency has a staff of approximately seventy comprised of analysts, statisticians, epidemiologists, economists, database administrators, web developers, geographic information system (GIS) analysts, surveyors, and project and program managers.

MISSION STATEMENT

TO PROVIDE INSIGHTFUL RESEARCH, ANALYSIS, AND RESOURCES TO FACILITATE INFORMED POLICY DECISIONS AND ADMINISTRATION OF SERVICES

Summary

The goals listed in our Accountability Report are centered on customer focus, strategic planning, information security, continuous improvement, and workforce development. Ten strategies were identified to facilitate the achievement of those goals and twenty measures were developed to determine our success in moving forward. We met or surpassed sixteen of those measures. The remaining four measures were not met but this did not represent a setback as significant progress towards our goals was achieved.

The annual customer satisfaction survey was resumed post-pandemic and the agency’s overall customer satisfaction rating of 4.8 exceeded our goal of 4.75 on a 5.0 scale. The agency received 298 responses from the 1,257 surveys emailed to customers. The survey results are used to measure the agency’s ability to “foster a commitment to excellence that delivers exceptional service and information to our external and internal stakeholders.” FY 2021-22 customer satisfaction ratings surpassed the FY 2019-20 ratings for all six of the measures. Customer feedback is one of the most essential factors in evaluating our success.

Furthermore, the agency identified and accomplished many other projects that supporting our vision of being a leader in public service. These accomplishments included collaborative efforts with other state agencies, recognition by state and national entities, implementation of our personnel budget increase to attract and retain a professional workforce, and many others described below.

Fiscal Year 2021-22 Highlights

Customer Focus

The agency’s work on local government redistricting began in prior fiscal years with data preparation and coordination with the US Census Bureau but increased significantly in the fall of 2021 with the release of the 2020 Census. The redistricting efforts required collaboration among multiple sections within the agency and leveraged the expertise of statisticians, GIS analysts, research analysts, a legal researcher, communications staff, database administrators, and agency leadership. The delay in the release of the Census data from April to September was an added burden and placed significant time constraints on staff in assisting counties to complete redistricting in a timely manner prior to the March 2022 election filing deadlines.

- In preparation for the redistricting process, RFA completed the following:
 - Participated in redistricting training sponsored by the National Association of State Legislatures
 - Created, in collaboration with the County and Municipal Association, a FAQ document on the redistricting process
 - Created a template for a benchmark report documenting the traditional redistricting principles, and provided population statistics, graphs, maps, and analysis of voting data
 - Presented on the principles of redistricting to various public and government groups
- To date, RFA has assisted seventy-one local governments in the redistricting process by providing benchmark reports and/or consultation, presenting at council meetings, and/or creating draft maps for consideration in the drawing of new districts.
- The Census data was made available on rfa.sc.gov via reports, downloadable files, and dashboards to assist local governments.
- At the conclusion of state and county level redistricting, RFA responded to additional requests to support the election process for the legislative redistricting plans.
 - Updated maps of voter precincts, Congressional, House, Senate, and County Council Districts, all available for download at rfa.sc.gov.
- Assisted the State Election Commission with ensuring voters are assigned to the proper districts for elections.

The agency collaborated with the Governor’s Office, the House Ways, and Means Committee, and the Senate Finance Committee in the development of a new funding model for public education which addresses the key goals of transparency, accountability, equity, and flexibility. Versions of the model were incorporated into each of the respective budget recommendations. At the request of the General Assembly, and in conjunction with the new Education Funding Model, a dashboard is in development to provide transparency of financial results by district.

RFA participated in the inauguration of the SC Analysis Network (SCAN), an ongoing collaborative of state agency research directors whose goals are to advance research in state government and enhance the use of RFA’s integrated data system.

The agency partnered with the SC Department of Health and Human Services on a project to monitor the use of psychiatric beds state-wide. The project will begin with reporting on hospital bed use from the hospital billing data housed at RFA, and if feasible, move to a real-time monitoring of bed utilization.

RFA was contacted to provide data for civil lawsuits initiated by several counties to recover damages for inappropriate opioid dispensing from retail pharmacies. With proper approvals, data from RFA’s integrated data system was compiled to respond to these requests.

Continuous Improvement

RFA engaged a cybersecurity firm, Soteria, to review existing information technology/security plans, projects, organization structure, and staffing to strengthen the information security program and further align it with the SCDIS-200 security framework.

The agency was awarded a 2021 SC Notable State Documents Award, which recognizes exemplary publications, for our recently redesigned external website.

The agency received certification by the Electronic Healthcare Network Accreditation Commission (EHNAC) for the SC Health Information Exchange (SCHIE). A 97 percent passing rate was earned through the audit. This is the third consecutive audit for which the agency received certification. The audit measures compliance with HIPAA and other select state and federal rules and regulations as well as ensuring adherence to privacy, security, confidentiality, and data management standards.

Results for America recently released the “2021 Invest in What Works State Standard of Excellence” which is considered a national benchmark for how state governments invest in what works. While South Carolina was not considered a leading or honor roll state, it was considered a ‘promising example’ in 4 of the 16 categories. SC was recognized in the following areas:

- Data Leadership and Governance: The proviso that mandates RFA to collect and integrate data
- Data Infrastructure: RFA’s integrated data system that allows the agency to efficiently collect, inventory, and share data
- Data Use: Use of RFA’s integrated data system has facilitated program improvement efforts
- Results-focused Contracting: Improved outcomes by combining and analyzing data to inform decisions

Workforce Development

To increase collaboration and cooperation across agency divisions and sections, a GIS section was created to streamline all GIS services offered by the agency. The GIS Section will support the mapping needs for all agency divisions and sections.

The agency completed an annual compensation and performance review process. With the approval of the agency’s budget request, the Executive Director and Division Directors worked with State Human Resources and Shared Services to implement pay adjustments for staff.

Strategic Planning

The Strategic Planning Committee reviewed and updated the three-year budget to align resources with the achievement of the long-term strategic plan and compensation strategy.

The agency transitioned from in-house human resources to the Department of Administration’s Shared Human Resources Services. This transition allows the agency to leverage the expertise of a larger Human Resources department.

Staff are kept apprised of our goals and accomplishments throughout the year through our intranet site and correspondence from the Executive Director.

Risk Assessment and Mitigation Strategies

Many of RFA’s responsibilities involve providing thorough and precise information to the General Assembly and other state agencies to assist in informed decision-making. For example, should the agency fail to adequately forecast the state’s revenue, there could potentially be a budget shortfall that would adversely affect the citizens of the state. Delayed or inaccurate fiscal impacts could lead lawmakers to pass legislation without fully understanding the actual expenditure and revenue impact. The occurrence of such events is unlikely provided the General Assembly continues to support the agency with the necessary funding and guidance.

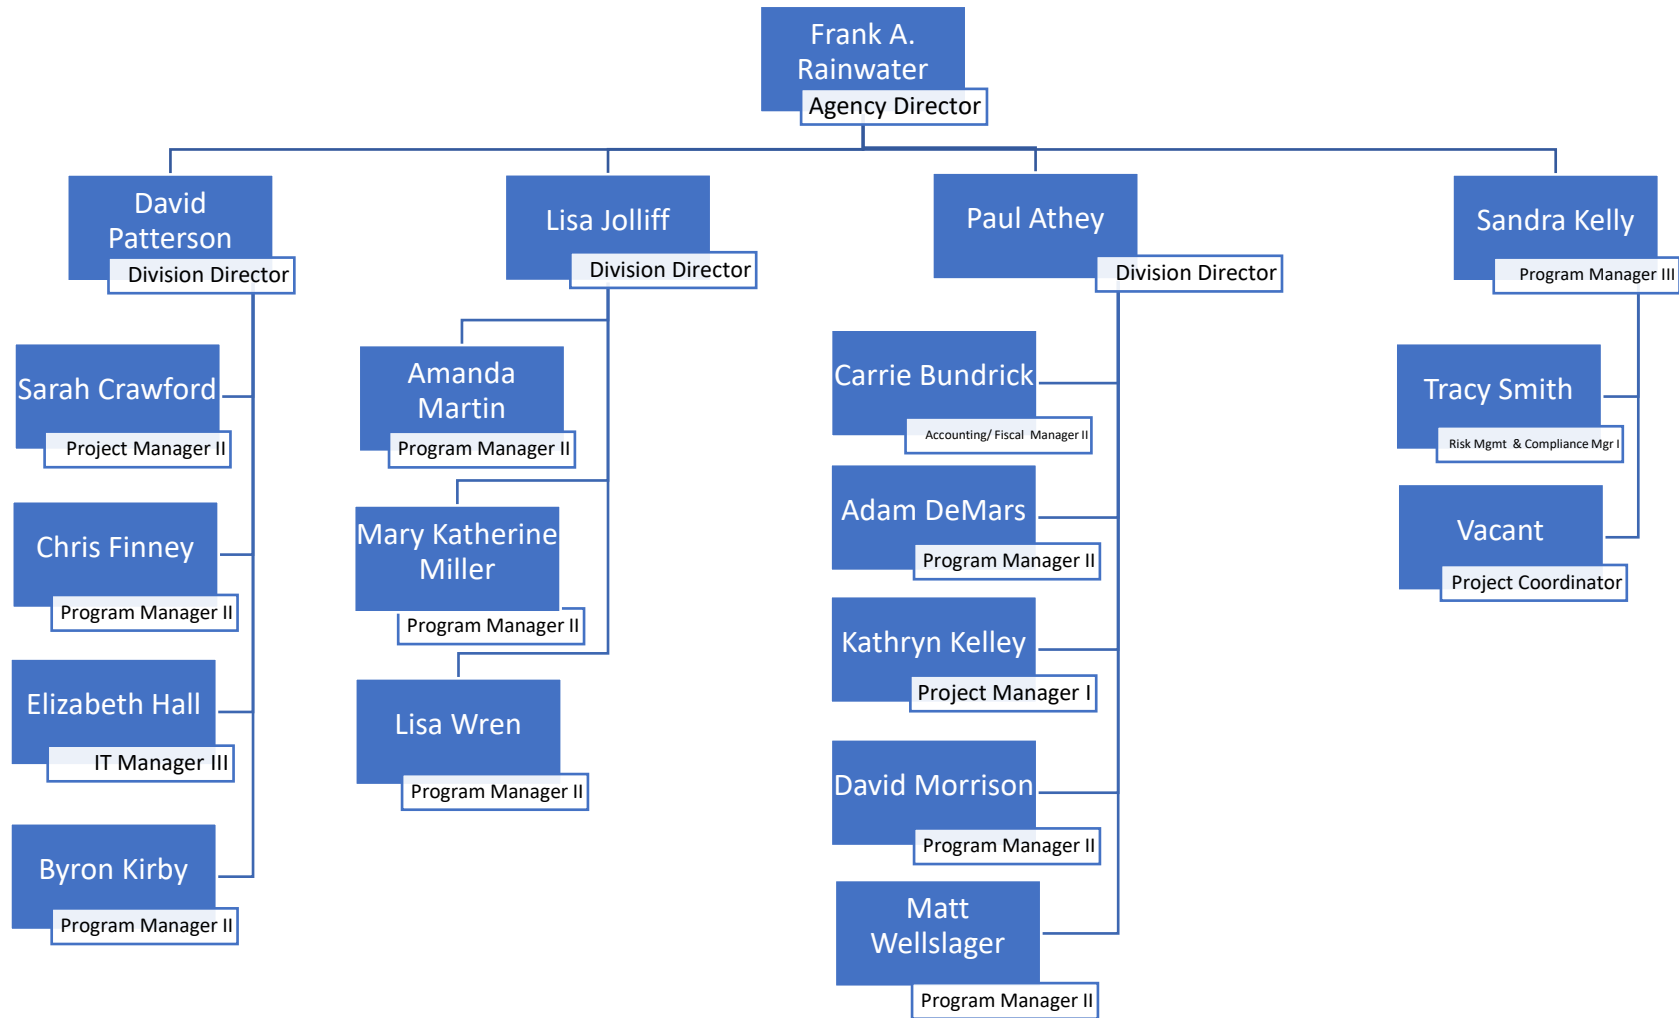

RFA is also responsible for providing services that directly impact the citizens of the state. One example is the development and coordination of a plan to transition all local public safety access points (PSAPs) to Next Generation 9-1-1 (NG9-1-1) services. Over the past decade, the technology for processing 9-1-1 calls has changed as analog (copper wire) lines are being replaced with internet protocol (IP) based communication paths. These IP networks allow for enhanced capabilities with resiliency to ensure multiple transmission paths for each call; redundancy to ensure multiple backup locations are available for each PSAP; location accuracy to ensure each call is routed to the appropriate PSAP; and expanded data delivery for citizens, including text, images, and video. In the event RFA could not partner with the contractor to assist the PSAPs in the transition at the state level, the level of service each local jurisdiction could provide would vary greatly depending on funding and available expertise which could have a negative impact on the citizens. This not expected to be an issue if the current funding authorization remains available.

Another service RFA provides to the public is the Real Time Network (SCRNTN). The SCRNTN is a network of Global Navigation Satellite System (GNSS) receivers that track and record data broadcast from the GPS (U.S.), Galileo (European), GLONASS (Russian), and BeiDou (Chinese) satellite constellations. What started in 2006 as a network of 20 receivers with start-up funding from the SC Department of Transportation has grown into a state of the art, very stable network of 54 receivers. Forty-three receivers are in state, ten are shared data sets from receivers located in North Carolina and two receivers are in Georgia. Data received from these satellites are sent to servers located in Columbia and used to create corrections, available in real time, for errors in the satellite data created from signal refraction in the Earth's Ionosphere and troposphere, localized atmospheric conditions, and timing. The SCRNTN can improve coordinate accuracy from +/- 45 feet to approximately +/- 1 foot or less. There are over 1,000 registered users of the SCRNTN including federal, state, and county agencies/organizations, farmers, general construction, professional land surveyors and engineers, academic institutions, and the Augusta National Golf Course. If access to the network were to cease, the impact to users would be significant. Data collection would have to be done using conventional surveying techniques that would require much more manpower and time. The agency is working with Trimble Navigation, the equipment manufacturer and software developer for the SCRNTN, to transition the hosting of the SCRNTN to their cloud services to further minimize the risk of system outages.

The agency provides many other services that are not specifically listed in our accountability report that impact the public and/or partners; many of these are through contracts with other state agencies. Examples of these initiatives include serving as technical lead for the state's health information exchange (SCHIE) which allows for sharing of data across service providers; the development and support of a web-based case management system for Community Long Term Care, a program for assisting individuals who qualify for Medicaid to avoid unnecessary or premature nursing home placement; and the collection and compilation of statewide road centerlines, address points, and parcel datasets necessary for a wide range of services including emergency response, infrastructure management, and political redistricting. The agency can continue to provide these services with adequate funding and authorization.

The SCGS accomplishes this by operating a statewide Real-Time GPS Network and upgrading county geodetic networks.	services contingent upon GIS accuracy across the state such as precision farming, construction, engineering, and surveying would be severely hampered	No Change
Statewide Aerial Orthophotography program	tax assessment, economic development, emergency response, land and forest management, law enforcement, road construction, and disaster recovery	multitude of federal, state, and local governments	photogrammetric firms	SC Geodetic Survey	The SCGS's county aerial orthophotography program begun in 1986 was the catalyst for creating and maintaining an accurate, up-to-date, uniform statewide mapping system on a county-by-county basis. This digitized map base is the foundation for county and state computerized land information systems that facilitate manipulating and storing land records for a multitude of purposes.	services contingent upon accurate aerial imagery would be severely hampered	No Change
County Boundary program	tax assessment, redistricting (schools, political, other), emergency services	state and local governments	citizens	SC Geodetic Survey	The SCGS also re-establishes indeterminate political boundaries to ensure jurisdictional integrity which avoids costly litigation.	citizens would be negatively impacted in terms of tax assessments, ability to receive emergency services, voting, schools, etc.	No Change
Staff provide expert analysis and information to assist the BEA Board in forecasting revenues and produce monthly reports monitoring revenue collections and the economy.	State appropriations process	Governor and General Assembly	All agencies and local governments	Fiscal Analysis	This Division is responsible for estimates and projections of revenues and expenditures for state and local governments and analysis of fiscal impacts	State would not have a timely forecast of General Fund Revenue for the budget process or be notified of potential changes in revenues.	No Change
Staff assist local governments in the redistricting process	counties and municipalities	counties and municipalities		GIS and Mapping	The GIS and Mapping section develops standardized, geocoded data sets and provides geospatial demographic and statistical analysis and maps to support informed decision-making and provision of services. The section also facilitates the collection of statewide aerial imagery every three years to support state and local governments with manipulating and storing land records for a multitude of services.	County and Municipal governments would have to pay a consultant to provide the service.	Add	Local government redistricting occurs as a result of the decennial census and therefore, is a service we provide intermittently.
Host the Business License Renewal Portal	MASC, local taxing jurisdictions, and business paying taxes in the local government	MASC, local taxing jurisdictions, and business paying taxes in the local government	Tax payers	Information Technology	Supports the IT needs of the agency and partners	The process would be manual; therefore less efficient and more resource intensive.	Add	This is a new initiative
