AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The University of South Carolina Sumter has a long history of providing higher education opportunities and intellectual leadership for the counties of Clarendon, Lee, Kershaw, Sumter, and Williamsburg. It provides innovative and inclusive curricular pathways focused on student success, nurturing critical thinking, civic engagement, and career development, while preparing students to continue their education throughout life.

As a regional Palmetto College campus, the University offers associate degrees in arts and science, while providing substantial local support for numerous baccalaureate degrees offered by four year colleges within the University of South Carolina system. It employs a teaching faculty and administrative staff of high quality, dedicated to excellence in instruction, scholarship, public and professional service, and creative endeavors, thus enriching classroom and life development experiences for its students.

FY 2022 Analysis

Over the past several years, the University of South Carolina Sumter has maintained its commitment to excellence in pursuit of mission objectives as needs for organizational restructuring, deferred maintenance projects, addressing budgetary constraints, and faculty and staff attrition presented as critical internal priorities.

This commitment to excellence and the effectiveness of restructured processes and increased personnel capacity in enrollment management, including the offices of admissions and recruitment, and financial aid, have occurred alongside greater institutional commitment to high quality full-time faculty hires directed toward meeting critical curricular needs, and extensive expansion of Tutoring Services. These changes, which themselves are continually assessed and readjusted where appropriate, have yielded tangible results in the areas of: 1) enrollment and recruitment; 2) student success, transfer rates, and timely degree completion; 3) faculty excellence; 4) service and community engagement; and 5) sustainability of financial and organizational resources.

USC Sumter has seen significant growth in overall headcount the past several years. The fall 2021 headcount of 1,407 reflects a rise of 74.78% since the fall 2016. Trends in enrollment of first-time full-time freshman produced the highest 3-year trend in over 25 years from AY 2017-2019, and while there was a small dip in AY 2020, first-time full-time freshman enrollments held solid at 20 students well above pre-2017 levels. These trends reflect similar success in growth of applications, and admits, while maintaining commitment to quality admissions standards.

In terms of completion, official IPEDS graduation rates, or first-time full-time freshman students receiving degrees within 150% time of admission, have been trending consistently upward over the past several academic years. They reached a high of 30% with the 2017 first-time full-time freshman cohort, a rate not seen in the past two decades and held steady at 30% with the 2018 first-time full-time freshman cohort. Meanwhile, success rates, a measure of either graduation or transfer in 150% time, or persistence/retention at original institution one term past 150% time, have risen and continue to remain at high at 71% for the fall 2018 first-time full-time freshman cohort. These rates are among the highest of all 2 year institutions in SC.

Establishing a sustainable student recruitment and onboarding plan has been a top priority for the Enrollment Services group. Increased high school visits and enhanced follow-up communication plans have helped streamline the process for new students, moving prospects to enrollments in a quicker and more efficient manner. Utilization of the CRM, SMS texting, and e-mail and phone campaigns have also contributed to an increase in applicants, admits, and new enrollments.

In addition, the admissions processing unit has been reorganized to review and make decisions on applicant files in a more timely and efficient manner. This reorganization has led to significant increases in early admit decisions over the previous year.

The University of South Carolina is committed to attracting and admitting students who are likely to be successful and who will return to us for a second year (at least). The school offers several services and opportunities that are designed to aid in student retention. These efforts are directed both at the academic success of the students as well as their social and cultural development.

From the academic side, USC Sumter offers faculty-led academic advising. Faculty members are paired with students whose professed academic goals align with the training and interests of the faculty. This level of familiarity with both the programs and the students allows for more effective advising on the part of the advisor. USC Sumter also offers tutoring services free of charge for students in the areas in which many students often struggle. These include math, the sciences, foreign language, and writing among others. These services are centralized in the Anderson Library with regularly scheduled hours and appointment capability. The use of these services has been strong.

For at-risk students with documented disabilities, USC Sumter has had a Trio program (OSP) operating on campus for many years. This federally-funded program offers additional academic support for students who have met certain eligibility standards. Furthermore, USC Sumter has a dedicated Disability Services coordinator who can offer academic support services for students who have been diagnosed with any disability which impacts their learning.

Campus-wide campaigns through electronic and traditional communication channels have proven successful in promoting early next-term registration and providing effective ongoing follow-up for students who are not enrolled.

In sum, these new processes have helped enable upward trends on many key metrics used to assess and plan toward the University's strategic priorities and objectives.

Along with the other PC Campuses USC Sumter continues to offer the lowest rates of tuition in the USC System. USC Sumter continues to waive and subsidize fees for military personnel as needed. Utilizing state Lottery Scholarship funds our new Early College Program allows select, highly qualified high school students an opportunity to earn an Associate degree upon completion of high school, tuition free. Our expanding dual enrollment program offers many other high school students the same tuition free opportunity for up to 24 hours of Carolina Core college credit. Utilizing Lottery Scholarship funds and institutional subsidies our Sumter's Scholars program offers free tuition for first-time fulltime freshman that finished in the top 25% of their high school class cohorts.

Attract, inspire, challenge and enable our students to become innovative thinkers and transformative leaders.

Along with the other regional Palmetto College campuses, USC Sumter continues to offer the lowest rates of tuition in the USC System. USC Sumter granted $95,829 in private scholarship support for the fall 2021 and spring 2022 semesters.

Strategies and objectives aimed at the education of future innovative thinkers and transformative leaders focus on: measured growth in the enrollment and recruitment of a competitive and diverse student population; improvement of student retention, success, and timely graduation; high quality faculty and curricular offerings; and student leadership and service learning opportunities that engage the University’s broader community of stakeholders. The University of South Carolina Sumter is committed to affordably providing students with flexible and quality access to a general educational background necessary to complete not just associate degrees and but also baccalaureate degrees, and the opportunities to learn knowledge and skills needed for lifelong education and success.

Assemble and cultivate a world-class faculty and staff.

USC Sumter seeks to provide students with a quality faculty capable of providing the variety of curriculum offerings and educational delivery modes needed to effect mission objectives along with a highly qualified and dedicated staff to provide academic and administrative support services to students and critical university stakeholders.

With a record number of first-time full-time freshman enrolling over the past several years USC Sumter requires and continues to maintain a world class faculty dedicated to teaching, scholarship, and student success, an essential component to meeting such objectives. USC Sumter continues to maintain a low student-faculty ratio of 14:1, ensuring students receive quality personalized attention and support. These efforts at ensuring a world class faculty and a low student faculty ratio, are intricately intertwined with mission objectives associated with retention, student success and transfer, and timely degree completion.

USC Sumter continues to make tenure track hires in disciplinary areas that can make immediate contributions to critical curriculum need areas both at USC Sumter and for Palmetto College Programs.

The University also continues to promote faculty participating in distributive education course offerings, professional development training programs, and new distributive education course development. Faculty scholarship continues to be supported by ample institutional commitment to the resources needed for presentations at state, regional, national, and international peer academic conferences. Faculty are offered up to $1,500 in travel costs each year to present research at academic conferences. Faculty are invited to take part in USC Sumter Seminar Series to present their work for feedback. Faculty are encouraged to apply for grants including Aspire, RISE, PURE and the USC Sumter Summer Stipend to support research projects. Faculty may apply for a course reduction to facilitate research. Faculty may apply for a sabbatical to facilitate research. Faculty performing research are honored each year at Faculty Scholarship Reception.

Faculty engagement in teaching, research, and service is central to each faculty member’s annual, and peer review processes and ultimately serve as the basis of decision regarding their tenure and promotion. Faculty are provided travel money, many Library resources, including access to USC Columbia holdings, and formal and informal links to institutions in Sumter including, the Sumter County Gallery of Art, the Sumter Little Theatre, the

Sumter County Library, the Sumter County Museum, among others. An endowed grant from the Korn Trust affords faculty from the Division of Arts & Letters funding for various cultural events and the annual sponsorship of a public Seminar series

Four endowed Chairs support the exhibition of excellence by USC Sumter faculty: the McDavid Professorship of Business & Economics; the Williams-Brice-Edwards Professor of Social Science; the Julian T. Buxton Professor of Business Administration; and the R.J. “Chic” Mathis Professorship.

Leaders at USC Sumter recognize the challenges facing students when their college path takes longer than needed or expected. This is particularly true of an institution like USC Sumter whose student population reflects large numbers of first-generation and low-income college students.

USC Sumter faculty and staff provide tutoring services free of charge for students in the areas in which many students often struggle, including math, the sciences, foreign language, and writing.

USC Sumter has long had a very successful Trios Student Support Services program (OSP) operating on campus for many years. This federally funded program operates on a 5 year grant cycle with the most recent grant cycle effectively secured during FY 2019-2020. This program offers additional academic support for students who are categorized as at-risk students and those diagnosed with disabilities. In addition, during the 2021-2022 FY USC Sumter secured an additional 5 years of funding for its Trios Upward Bound Grant with Manning High School in Manning SC. Upward Bound programs support rising secondary school students who come from low -income areas better prepare for the rigors of post-secondary education.

Spur innovation and economic development through impactful community partnerships.

As a regional Palmetto College campus, USC Sumter seeks to achieve mission objectives by continually strengthening current relationships, and building new relationships, with community partners and stakeholders. Such service and community engagement are critical to not just the University’s academic mission but its larger mission to improve the economic output and quality of life for stakeholders in its service area.

Continued creativity and innovation in curricular offerings, course delivery modalities, and service learning opportunities, such as that associated with the University’s Graduation with Leadership Distinction program, help sustain and increase patterns of retention, success and transfer, and timely graduation of both traditional and non-traditional students – such opportunities also critically prepare students for employment after graduation. In addition to academic coursework, University offerings includes non-credit courses, seminars, and workshops made available to the community for cultural enrichment and professional development. The recent addition of the iCarolina Apple computer lab reflects our most recent additions facilities and resources to available to community stakeholders.

There can be challenges involved in striking a balance between teaching, scholarship, and service at a campus institutionally organized as a teaching institution. The mission prioritizes teaching and places a demanding teaching load on full-time faculty. To ameliorate this, efforts are made to provide course load reductions and sabbaticals to enhance research productivity and service as resources and circumstances reasonably allow; and USC Sumter faculty continue to increase the quantity and quality of scholarly research and service to a broad range of stakeholders.

USC Sumter strives to be a destination of choice for students residing in its services area, while attracting top faculty and staff from a variety of backgrounds, races, cultures, and creeds. To recruit and retain high-achieving and high-quality faculty, staff, and students, the University recognizes that the quality of life on the University campus must be welcoming, inclusive, and encouraging.

Cultivate a more diverse, equitable and inclusive campus culture where every individual, regardless of background, has the full opportunity to flourish and thrive.

USC Sumter promotes a variety of cultural events along with clubs and organizations that include people from all walks of life. The clubs range from interest groups, political groups, leadership, social, professional, sport, religious, etc.

Student experiences with clubs and organizations build networks spanning beyond peer groups and the classroom to include a broader range of activity with faculty, staff, and external University stakeholders. Extra-curricular activities facilitate exposure to situations enabling growth in intrapersonal skills and team building. Such activities provide situational contexts broadening social networks to ameliorate daily interactions on campus and during planned events. Thus, such activities channel a camaraderie among diverse stakeholders into a sustainable campus community.

The OSP program annual participates the Student Leadership & Diversity Conference on the USC Columbia campus and provides funds for wide variety of students to attend the SC Day at the State House. Student Life promotes and holds social mixers for students, staff and faculty designed to engage extra and co-curricular activities, and a campus “community” of peers.

We continue to hold our annual Martin Luther King Day Walk with the campus community and other Sumter community stakeholders. We hold poetry readings and faculty seminars associated with topics extending to inclusivity and barriers to inclusivity.

There is more than a half dozen very clubs/organizations on campus that are very active. The University Ambassadors organization continues to grow and transition students into the university’s Graduation with Leadership Distinction program.

In addition, USC Sumter has made a significant commitment to full participation in the University of South Carolina’s Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) programs including the development of an active DEI committee on the USC Sumter campus. The Campus Dean recently charged the DEI committee for 2022-2023 with proposing DEI-supporting programs (e.g., speakers, workshops, etc.), and highlighted campus funding available for such efforts through the Cultural Events Committee.

Promoting recognized institutional excellence

Niche, a website that helps students discover the schools and neighborhoods that are right for them, released its 2022 College Rankings. The University of South Carolina Sumter was named the #2 Best Community College in South Carolina. Niche analyzes 4,136 colleges to create rankings and Niche Grades for all aspects of campus life, including academics, student life, and value. These rankings and grades are based on rigorous analysis of academic, admissions, financial and student life data from the U.S. Department of Education along with millions of reviews from students and alumni.

USC Sumter was awarded once again the Military Friendly School designation by Viqtory in 2022. Institutions earning the Military Friendly School designation were evaluated using both public data sources and responses from a proprietary survey. Over 1,800 schools participated in the 2022-2023 survey with 665 earning the designation.

In the Spring of 2022, USC Sumter was voted the best college/university in Sumter by The Item Newspaper readers. More than 100,000 votes from the community were recorded for the 2022 Best of Sumter contest. The Item Newspaper reaches more than 150,000 unique users each month through print and digital products and is the primary media outlet for Sumter, Lee and Clarendon counties.

Highlights for the Upcoming Fiscal Year

Many deferred maintenance and building projects are in progress or in the planning stage. These include Phase 2 renovation of the Science building, renovation of two parking lots, window replacement for the Arts and Letters building, and renovation of the Nettles Auditorium and Gym.

DEI Committee members will focus on developing programs/events that will promote diversity, equity, and inclusion on campus with specific focus on proposing, planning, and helping execute educational, cultural, and other activities that enliven campus life and draw students, staff, and faculty together to learn about and celebrate our differences and promote empathy and understanding. Funding will be provided for such activities through the Cultural Events Committee. We will make other funding available if needed as the DEI Committee comes forward with proposals for fall and spring events.

Training sessions are being planned for faculty and staff. These will include: addressing DEI-related issues; workplace etiquette, customer service; and Safety and Security, including training called “Stop the Bleed” which focuses on what to do in the event someone is bleeding or wounded.

New training sessions will also happen for students. These will focus on: Title IX (Sexual Assault Prevention for Undergraduates); Mental Well Being; Diversity, Inclusion, and Belonging; and AlcoholEdu.

New strategic initiatives are currently underway or being planned. These include: the creation of a Student Success Center; a Food and Clothing Pantry; and a new Wellness, Health, and Athletics facility on campus, which will include a new gym to support our growing athletics teams.

We also received funding to partner with SCETV to construct a new facility in the downtown Sumter area in support of our professional and other programs.

A new softball playing field has received funding and is in planning, as are new batting cages for both softball and baseball. The recent addition of women’s volleyball demonstrates the campus commitment to gender equity in athletics and the commitment of funds to improving facilities highlights the important and recognized role athletics and student life plays in enhancing the learning environment at USC Sumter.

Risk Assessment and Mitigation Strategies

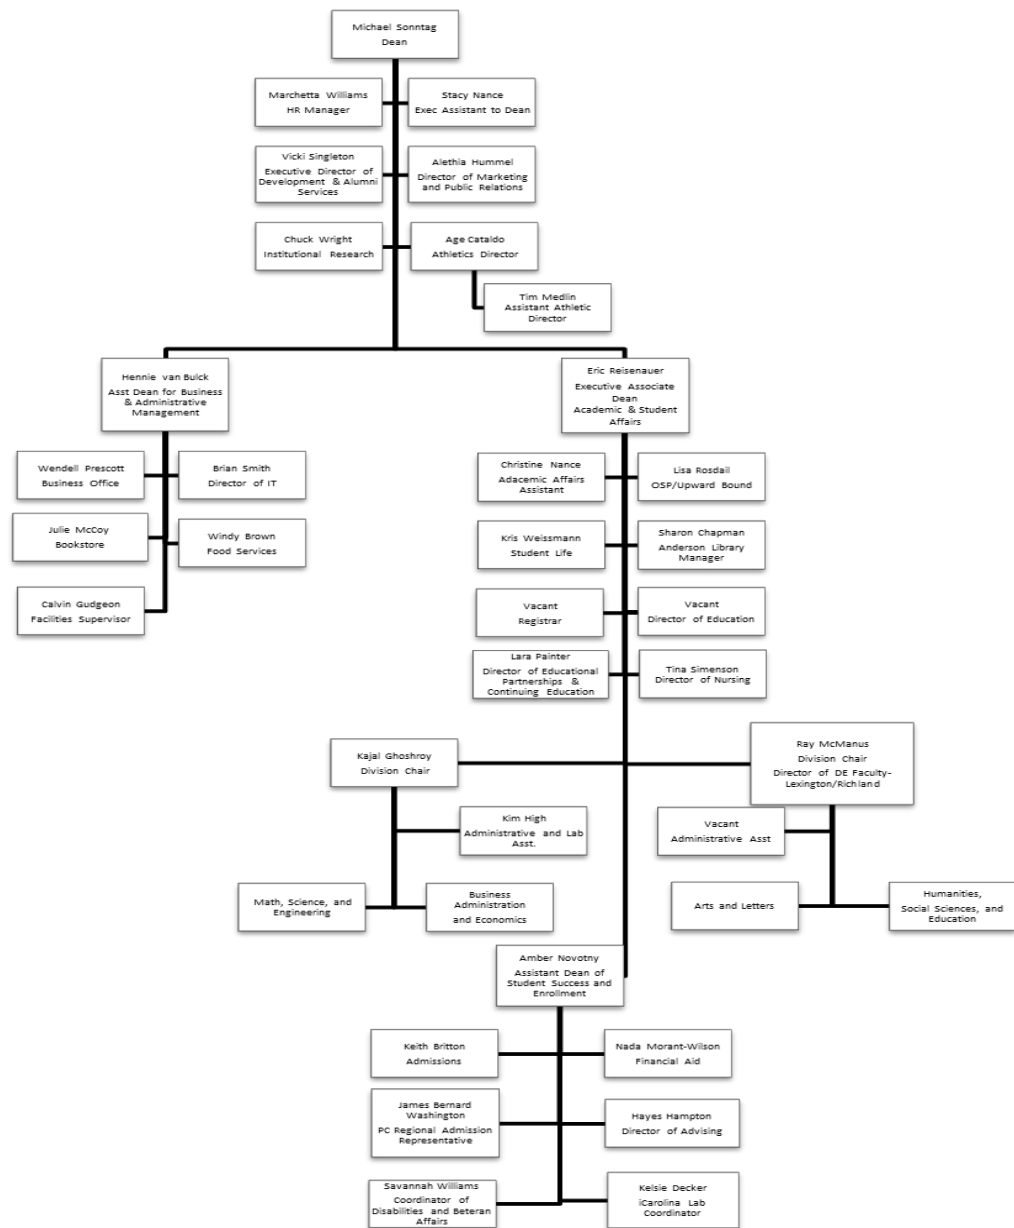

Increasing enrollment at USC Sumter continues to be a primary focus, especially first time freshman. The tuition differential between us and CCTC next door, as well as an unfortunate growing overlap in mission, is a significant challenge in recruiting students. We have grave concerns that the SC Technical College system is positioning itself to deliver bachelor’s degrees soon, marking the greatest over-reach and confusion of mission yet attempted by this major competitor. Many of the students we serve are first generation students who have little experience or understanding of the white-collar job market. They see the promises from CCTC of free tuition, lower admissions standards, and promises of a high paying technical job at a local plant as a better “deal” than a four-year time commitment, paying higher tuition, to get a job they don’t have much personal experience with or understanding of (e.g., middle-management, professional services, etc.). If CCTC begins to offer bachelor’s degrees, the differentiation between the two institutions will likely be completely lost on the students we serve.

Recruiting students in this climate of competition is difficult, but several things would help. We need to add campus housing to attract a talented student body from across the state to come here, see the careers that are available in Sumter, and to recognize that Sumter is quickly becoming a destination of choice for major employers. Additional tuition mitigation would help us compete with CCTC—we need to be able to offer the same free-tuition programs as CCTC does. The ability to offer on-ground bachelor’s degrees of interest to specific industries and constituents in our area is of critical importance to enhance those offered by Palmetto College online. Already our partnerships with Aiken to deliver Teacher eEducation and nursing bachelor’s degrees have demonstrated that such programs will fill overnight and lead to the production of needed talent in Sumter and surrounding areas. Finally, improved facilities to provide state-of-the-art educational experiences would greatly help recruiting and educational efforts.
